To explore the characteristics of high-risk sexual behaviors among adolescents with HIV infection in Chongqing, China. In 2004, a multi-stage stratified sampling method was applied to select 440 adolescents from three districts. Of 440 adolescents, 402 were interviewed with a self-administered questionnaire. The general situation of high-risk sexual behaviors in adolescents with HIV infection was analyzed. The total high-risk sexual behaviors prevalence rate of the adolescents with HIV infection was 37.5%. The percentage of engaging in high-risk sexual behaviors among adolescents who had anal sex and who were infected by HIV was 56.3% and 47.9%, respectively ($\chi^2 = 1.156$, $P > 0.05$). High-risk sexual behaviors, especially anal sex, was more prevalent among older adolescents. Young female adolescents engaged in more high-risk sexual behaviors than their male counterparts (44.9% vs. 35.9%, 82157476af
